A LIFE REMEMBERED

Margaret Anne Whitfield was born on March 14, 1941, the second of four children of Walter and Ruth Ellis. She taught third grade for thirty-one years and could still name most of her students decades later.

She married Charles Whitfield in 1963, and together they raised two children in the house on Linden Street where she kept a garden, a full cookie jar, and an open door. She is survived by her children, Daniel and Claire, five grandchildren, and her sister, Joan.

*The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
he leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul.*

PSALM 23:1–3
