Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow;
they toil not, neither do they spin.

HER LIFE

Helen Frances Albright was born on March 2, 1939, and opened Albright's Flowers on Main Street in 1968. For fifty years she arranged the flowers for this town's weddings, graduations and farewells, and she never charged a widow for a funeral spray.

Helen sang alto in the choir, kept lilies on the altar every Easter, and could name any flower you brought her. She is survived by her son, Paul, her daughter, Susan Albright Reyes, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

WITH GRATITUDE

The Albright family thanks you for the flowers, cards and prayers. Mother would have arranged every one of them, and she would have known who sent each.

Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow;
they toil not, neither do they spin.
